Larry-O is Listening

Now, as you know, past president Larry O'Donnell has always listened very closely to his fellow Rotarians. So about a month ago, when Peter Cattle was trying to explain to his young daughter what a libido was, Larry-O went down to Seattle to visit a foreign car dealer. He walked in and said, "I'm interested in a Libido." The salesman looked at him curiously and said, "Yeah, I can understand why." The salesman continued, "We don't have any of those in stock, but would you be interested in a Ferrari?" Larry-O replied, "You know I really don't care for Italian food." After a brief period, Larry-O placed an order for a "Graffiti," which the salesman assured Larry-O that he could deliver.

Chicken Soup for the Rotarian's Soul

Barbara George's inspiring thought for the day was a story of kindness. For her birthday, Barbara's family took her out to breakfast; and while they were away, clandestine arrangements were made to pressure wash the fence and sidewalks around the perimeter of her five acre estate. When she came home, Barbara was also surprised to discover that her kitchen had been cleaned and her lawn had been mowed. She considered her story to be a testament to the many random acts of kindness performed by Rotarians every day.

Visiting Rotarians & Guests

(Editors Note: We had one visiting Rotarian; unfortunately, I couldn't hear her name and forgot to ask her after the meeting - my regrets). Kris Brynildsen-Smith introduced us to Teresa Moran, the mother of Jessica Manry one of our students of the month. Dan Squires presented Karen Zigler, an independent human resource consultant. Carol Breyse, the mother of student of the month honoree, Emma Breyse was introduced by Ed Petersen.

This Week's Program

Club member and Everett Mayor, Ray Stephanson spoke to the club about the "City of Everett Youth Council." The council consists of young people from 14 to 18 years of age who will advise the Mayor on issues affecting youth in Everett and provide input on his policies. The Youth Council is an opportunity for youth to talk about community issues, engage with city leaders and connect with their peers.

HAPPY BUCKS

Here are some of the highlights. (Editors Note: We apologize if your announcement or name has not been noted). Pat Dillon was happy to announce that he and his wife, Aleeta, are expecting their first child – a little girl – in September. A club member (sorry, I didn't catch his name), who recently celebrated thirty years of marriage, said that 26 years have been blissful, while the other four were "just so-so." Maybe it's a good thing we didn't get his name.

Marc Baker contributed some envy bucks after receiving a call from daughter Betsy on Saturday morning. While it was pouring down rain where Marc was here at home; Betsy, an avid skier, was sitting on a chairlift in Park City, Utah. Last week, Larry Byers visited another Rotary Club and announced that he was expecting his sixth grandchild. Since then, he's been informed that grandchild number seven is on the way too. The Byers clan must have a strong union.

Mike Gianunzio was appreciative for the opportunity to present the program two weeks ago, and for all the good press that the Snohomish County PUD has received recently concerning their fight with Enron. Everett Police Chief Jim Scharf was happy to announce that there have been three arrests recently in conjunction with the department's dragnet on vandalism and burglary. Chief Scharf acknowledged beating (Snohomish County Prosecutor) Janice Ellis to the punch when – evidently, correcting himself from an earlier statement – he mentioned that, on average, it takes six convictions to get prison time, as opposed to jail time.

With regards to "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner," Tom Koenig shared with us that he had recently jotted down a few things that he ate on his trip to Norway last summer, which included moose, reindeer, cod, pollack and whale. Tim Hornbecker was pleased to announce that 93 volunteers from Boeing have signed up to perform some much needed handiwork for the nice folks over at Sherwood Community Services.

Susie Pool-Moses announced that this is "National Volunteer Week," and in the spirit, there will be an event for all the Providence Medical Center Volunteers; Susie thanked all Rotarians who volunteered as well. Last Saturday, April Wilson escorted her daughter's science club – seventh and eighth grade students – down to Lewis and Clark College to compete in the State Science Olympiad Finals. April's daughter earned a fourth place finish in the category of "Science and Fitness," and a second place finish in "Science Crime-busters."

Breaking News: Kris Brynildsen-Smith informed that we have a new Pope: Benedict XVI. Ron Jacobson reported that his daughter, who's felt like a member of the club since she was two, recently turned 10. Charlie Langdon was happy about his 45th wedding anniversary and 70th birthday.

Sharon Hemmat shared that she and husband Allen had a great vacation in France and Italy and were happy that they had a chance to visit with their son who's attending college in Scotland. Janice Ellis had happy bucks to let us know that Chief Jim Scharf is not going to get-off easy...and that there is a citizens advisory committee set to meet this week.

Betsy Baker corrected Marc's earlier comment, to say that she was actually at the Solitude Mountain Resort, rather than Park City. She had a great time, anyway. And finally, how great was it to see (now 80 year-old) Pat Miller at our meeting. He's a fine gentleman.

A Word from our Sponsor

Today's meeting was brought to you by Ben Bridge Jewelers – your personal jeweler since 1912. Thanks again to Larry Larson and Ben Bridge Jewelers for their generous contributions recently.

Students of the Month to Join the Pac-10

Nicole Barhanovich, senior – Everett High School. Nicole has attended Everett High School since her freshman year. She's been involved in her school's yearbook and leadership committees and is a member of the "Torch" Honor Society. Nicole is also an accomplished athlete, serving as the captain of the girls' golf and volleyball teams. She recently headed-up the Big Brother/Little Sister program; a way for seniors to share their wisdom about high school life with incoming freshmen. Next autumn, Nicole plans to attend the University of Washington, where she plans to, eventually, become an orthodontist.

Emma Breysse, senior – Cascade High School. A national honor student, Emma is a member of Cascade's track team, marching band and wind ensemble. She is also a member of her school's "High-Q Team," in which teams of students in the school district compete in various academic competitions. Emma is a member of the Everett Youth Symphony (clarinet); she's a counselor at her bible camp, carrying on the tradition her mother and late grandmother. Miss Breysse plans to attend Arizona State University where she will study journalism, on her way to becoming "a productive and mature adult" when she graduates.

Jessica Manry, senior – Archbishop Murphy High School. Although she's always been very involved, Jessica admits that she really didn't enjoy high school very much until her senior year. She has participated in five years of varsity cheerleading and one season of varsity soccer; she's served on both the dance and prom committees and has been a member of the national honor society since her sophomore year. An accomplished equestrian, Jessica owns a horse and gives riding lessons to others. She was accepted at Gonzaga University, but chose instead to stay close to home and attend the University of Washington.

Mug Shots

Don't forget that Tuesday, May 3rd at 11:30 a.m. is picture day. Here are the top three reasons to have your picture taken:

1. You haven't had your picture taken for the club directory
2. Your current photo hasn't been updated since, say, the Reagan administration
3. Your current photo resembles your reflection in a circus funhouse mirror

The Roster Committee has narrowed down the photos that may be used for your picture if you fail to show up for picture day.
